Shaping the Future of Peace Training

IN EUROPE AND BEYOND

Vienna | October 1-2 2018

Shaping the Future of Peace Training in Europe and Beyond a leading forum bringing together governments, European institutions, training academies and staff colleges, trainers and deployment agencies involved in peacebuilding and prevention missions and operations.

Over 2 days more than 20 workshops, plenary sessions, special forums, and an IT innovation centre will address the frontiers, needs and innovations in training and capacity building for peacebuilding, peacekeeping and prevention.

Who is it for?

Senior Government Officials and Ministry Staff responsible for peacebuilding, peacekeeping and prevention deployment and missions; Staff Colleges & Training Academies; National & International Organisations involved in peacebuilding, prevention and post-war recovery, stabilisation and peace consolidation; EU Officials & Staff involved in peacebuilding, prevention, crisis management, and preparation and training of civilian, police and military personnel; mission personnel involved in EU, UN and other international missions; experts, academics, practitioners and trainers involved in training, capacity building, in mission support and professional development for peacebuilding and prevention.

Format

The Conference & Forum for Policy and Practice will be organised to foster effective and collaborative engagement, sharing of lessons, and participatory approaches to identifying next steps and improving the field. The Conference will include Panel Sessions with leading experts, practitioners and agencies, parallel workshops, design forums and collaborative innovation sessions, a 'market' space for training institutions and agencies to present and share their work, an IT 'space' for exploring ICT technologies and peace training, and more.

How to participate?

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 Coordination & Support Action under Grant Agreement No 700583

Shaping the Future will provide a multi-stakeholder forum bringing together governments, deployment agencies and training institutions – including military, police, diplomatic and civilian (NGO and private sector) – to identify the state of the art of peace training and human resources for peacebuilding and prevention in Europe and internationally in order to:

Learn from best practices and improve streamlining front of the field approaches across sectors

Identify challenges and how they can be practically addressed: what corrections and improvements are needed

Explore front of the field innovations in training methods, approaches and use of information and communication technologies to support and improve peace training

Take steps towards improving competency frameworks and quality standards for peacebuilding and prevention training and improved collaboration amongst training institutions across sectors in Europe and beyond

Explore training within a more comprehensive approach to capacity building across the field – with special focus on strengthening local and national ownership in the field

Improving partnerships and collaboration across the full-breadth of the training and deployment field for peacebuilding and peace operations in Europe and internationally, including across sectors

Shaping the Future of Peace Training is a collaborative initiative of the PeaceTraining.eu Consortium, the European Peacebuilding Liaison Office (EPLO), the Global Partnership for the Prevention of Armed Conflict (GPPAC), the European Security and Defence College (ESDC), the Peace and Collaborative Development Network (PCDN), United States Institute of Peace (USIP) and Search for Common Ground (SFCG).
